

20. What factor should you not consider when buying generic drugs
- a) the price of the generic and the name brand
 - b) the medicinally active ingredients in the medications
 - c) the amounts of medicinally active ingredients in the medications
 - d) the effectiveness of each product
 - ☒ e) the fact that name-brand medications work better than generic drugs.
21. Acetaminophen can sometimes produce liver damage. This is because
- ☒ a) at high doses, the pathway by which the drug is metabolized changes and a toxic metabolite is produced
 - b) at low doses, the pathway by which the drug is metabolized changes and a toxic metabolite is produced
 - c) the drug cannot be metabolized completely by the liver and therefore overloads the kidneys
 - d) at high doses, the liver cannot completely metabolize the drug
 - e) at low doses, the liver begins producing toxic enzymes
22. Which of the following products contains acetaminophen?
- a) Maalox
 - b) Aspirin
 - c) Tums
 - d) Baking soda
 - ☒ e) Tylenol
23. Which medication should you be cautious about using for a hangover?
- a) A.S.A.
 - b) ibuprofen
 - c) naproxen
 - d) viox
 - ☒ e) acetaminophen
24. One of the following statements concerning vascular headaches is incorrect. Which one?
- a) vascular headaches, in general, are more painful than muscular headaches
 - ☒ b) vascular headaches are mainly a result of stress
 - c) some vascular headaches are a result of vasodilatation that is induced by poisons
 - d) vascular headaches can sometimes be treated with caffeine
 - e) some vascular headaches give the sufferer a warning before the pain begins
25. Migraine headaches normally follow a well defined progression involving several stages. After the headache is triggered, what is the proper progression of these stages?
- a) Aura, prodrome, pain phase and postdrome
 - b) Aura, prodrome, postdrome and pain phase
 - ☒ c) Prodrome, Aura, pain phase and postdrome
 - d) Prodrome, pain phase, aura and postdrome
 - e) Prodrome, postdrome, aura and pain phase